

Commitment to Sustainability

ISO 14001 certification

Certified since December 2019

CC4Remarketing GmbH obtained ISO 14001 certification in December 2019 and is committed to sustainability in all business processes.

Sustainable operation

We ensure that our customers and suppliers operate sustainably by accepting, processing and reselling their used IT equipment and also through our approach to raw materials, operating media and waste products in our processing chain.

End of throwaway mentality

The supply of non-renewable raw materials on our planet is not inexhaustible. We take a socially responsible approach to put an end to the throwaway mentality and also to counter the increasing scarcity of resources.

ISO certification

To consolidate this environmental commitment both internally and externally, it is vital to document it through ISO certification and to ensure its binding observation.

Main elements of ISO 14001

The international norm sets requirements for an environment management system by which an organization can improve its environmental performance, meet legal and other obligations and achieve environmental targets. The main elements of ISO 14001 are:

Planning: Determination of environmental targets and corresponding measures, responsibilities and procedure

Monitoring: Verification of the suitability of responsibilities, procedures and measures for the organization's environmental targets and guidelines (environment policy)

Improvement: Adaptation of responsibilities, processes and measures and, if necessary, environmental targets and guidelines
